I am using XML for both the layouts. Start with activity A, user clicks on button, say button B, activity B will be on top, From B, user can click on button C, On clicking button C, activity C will come on top, I want the same for activity D, if user clicks on button E, Activity D should come on top, And button E can be clicked on from activity B also. Please let me know if something like this can be implemented in android. I could not find anything similar through googling. A: Yes, this is definitely possible. You may put each activities in a different layout file. Then, when you start each activity, you can animate to the top by calling Activity.moveToTop() and when user clicks any button, the button will animate to its original place. I think, you should define your own animation c6a93da74d
